Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 1-7 and 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claims are directed to a recording medium storing nonfunctional descriptive material.

Data structures not claimed as embodied in computer-readable media are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are neither physical “things” nor statutory processes. See, e.g. Warmerdam, 33 F. 3d at 1361, 31 USPQ2d at 1760 (claim to a data structure per se held nonstatutory) and merely claiming nonfunctional descriptive material stored in a computer-readable medium does not make it statutory. In addition a mere arrangements or compilations of facts or data, are merely stored so as to be read or outputted by a computer without creating any functional interrelationship either as part of the stored data or as part of the computing processes performed by the computer then such descriptive material alone does not impart functionality either to the data as so structured, or to the computer, and therefore are not statutory. See MPEP 2106.IV.B.1.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 8-14 and 21-22 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner’s statement of reasons for allowance:

The present invention is directed to a recording apparatus comprising a duplicating means for duplicating, for a purpose of modification, an end vicinity for the preceding reproduction section and a beginning vicinity for the subsequent reproduction section, and writing the duplicated part on to the optical disc; and writing means for writing a flag to the optical disc, wherein the flag, if set to be on, indicates reproduction of a part before the end vicinity and a part after the beginning vicinity via the duplicated part, and if set to be off, indicates reproduction of the preceding and subsequent reproduction sections without via the duplicated part. The closest prior art, Kajimoto (EP 0 847 055 A2) discloses managing a series of available storage areas of the storage medium, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations obvious.

Art Unit: 2616
